Description

In this book, light is shed on the meaning of the ark of God for the people of God in this present dispensation of grace. The author draws parallels between the Old and the New Testament. What is important in all this is that the history of Israel is rendered as of current interest to us and it is emphasized that "whatever was written in earlier times was written for our instruction, that through perseverance and encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope" Romans 15:4.
