Description

No doubt you have noticed the surge in attacks on God as revealed in the historical books of the Old Testament. Why not spend some time with God's Word while considering a true portrait of the One who loves us and continues to work for our good in a time of ruin? In Lessons on the Books of Chronicles you will ...

- Discover why the book appears more fragmented than the books of Kings.
- Find how God wants us to react to a day of ruin.
- Consider God's ways in divine counsel.
- Meditate on our God's ways in government.

You'll discover why many find W. Kelly's lectures to be a good starting point for considering his writings as you consider this revelation of our worthy God.
