Description

Over the past few years, the use of 'Frequently Asked Questions' has become more and more widespread in all areas of life, no doubt with a view to responding to the need to absorb large quantities of information in the very limited time available to those who seek to learn about the subject matter in question. The intention of this book is not to replace detailed and intensive study of the Word of God but rather to encourage the young reader to get started with the systematic study of the truth: 'the faith once delivered unto the saints' (Jude 3).
