About the Author
Peter J. Pell was born into a Christian family on January 24, 1895. He began his Sunday School days in the Bible Class - sitting on his father's knee. Saved at an early age he began addicting himself to the study of the Word of God in his youth. For over sixty years he gave himself to the teaching and preaching of that Word, as he loved to say, "In the Service of the Best of Masters."

About the Book
Bible Class Notes on Gideon provides helpful instruction for the people of God in their struggle against spiritual wickedness in high places. It is prepared so as to be useful for class study. It is also helpful for individual devotional reading and study. The author's desire was that this material might arouse interest in a section of Scripture that is now little studied.
