Description

A.J. Pollock (1864-1957), the famous English writer, evangelist and teacher, wrote often thinking about questions as to the Bible that young people in particular so often face, as he had to in his youth. In the 23 chapters of this book, he seeks to help young and older alike, using many stories from his own experience, along with sound Bible teaching. Some of the subjects he takes up are the unique character of the Bible; the relationship of the New Testament to the Old Testament, making it one book; who wrote the Bible and how did inspiration work? And he explains why we speak of God as the Triune God. He takes up prophecy in detail--that already perfectly fulfilled (a mathematical impossibility) and that which is yet future, which will be just as perfectly fulfilled. Finally he takes up the "red line of atonement"--how the Bible is full of pictures of the work of Christ on the cross. We greatly enjoyed editing this book for your ease of reading and we believe you'll equally enjoy reading it for your eternal profit. 134 Pages - Softcover - Author: A. J. Pollock
